Class For Adult Farmers To Begin Feb. 4 In Pamplin

The Agricultural Committee of the Pamplin Ruritan Club announces that an adult farmer evening class will begin in the Pamplin School February 4. A special committee has selected topics which will be studied in a series of ten meetings. This special committee composed of Thomas Jamerson, Jimmy Rosser, Ed Harvey, and Bob McChesney met recently with R. B. Carter, vocational agricultural instructor at Appomattox High School to make plans for the adult farmer evening class. The Pamplin Ruritan Club co-sponsors the class along with the Department of Vocational Agriculture at Appomattox High School.

According to Thomas Jamerson, president of the Pamplin Ruritan Club the following topics will be discussed in the class this year: Farm management; Economics of Buying and Using Fertilizers, Calculating Machinery Cost, Budgeting Crop and Livestock Enterprises, Tobacco Diseases and Management, Soils and Fertilizer Recommendations for 1965, Using Forages, Field Crop Recommendations for 1965, New Electric Uses on the Farm, and Forage Competition.

The class will meet each Thursday night beginning on February 4 with the last class scheduled for Thursday night, April 8. The class will start each night at 7:30. All farmers in the Pamplin area are invited to attend.

The Pastor Speaks

Accept? Reject?

Lesson for January 31, 1965

In the Middle Ages, it was the annual custom in some places to force a few Jews to be baptized at certain festivals during the year. It didn't make any difference how much the victims objected. They would be dumped into a tub of water and a few Latin words said over them and then the Jews would be counted to the credit of the church that year as "converts." Blasphemy? Yes, of course: the church was trying to do the impossible. No one, Catholic or Protestant, can be found today, who would suppose for a minute that you can make converts by force. No one is or can be a true Christian (or for that matter, a true republican or trombone player or anything else) by force. Religion begins in the heart, and unless your heart is in it, you are not in it.

Jesus of Nazareth knew this very well. He suggested, urged, even commanded people to follow him. (Notice he always said "Follow me, never "Follow me, please.) He wanted followers, needed them and they of course needed him. But he wanted men, not driven victims.

Accept or Else

It is true some Christians would tell you they had been almost driven to become Christians. But in that case, who's driving them? Not the fear of torture and death, as in the case of those Jewish "converts." There is something more sensible, something infinitely higher than physical force. There is among other "drives") the reflection on the alternatives. Accept Jesus? Well, what if I don't I am free, you say to reject him — that is, step inside the circle of faith or to stay out, side. But what if I decide to stay on the outside — what happens to a man who says No to Christ? Well, he is not threatened with disease, disaster or death. That is compulsion by force, and we repeat, God does not win followers by that method. Still there is an "or else."

First of all, not to accept Christ means not to accept what he was and stood for. Take three out of many examples. First of all, rejecting Jesus means rejecting his compassion, his sympathy with and for the unfortunates of this world. His sympathies were always with the victims of the cruelty of society, never with exploiters and oppressors. Reject him, and you yourself become a part of the problem of mankind, you have no use in whatever good solution may be found. To accept him means to share in his sympathy for the wounds of mankind. To reject him means to tear those wounds afresh.

Ship Without Rudder

Again, inserting and refusing Christ means rejecting his commands. There are two kinds of judgements of God theologians tell us. One is the kind that are imposed by a magistrate's court for example for speeding. The fine is $5 in a certain county; but it might as well have been $20 or less or more. Besides, not everybody who speeds gets caught, and not all who get caught are fined. Not the other type of judgment is not this police court variety; it is called "consequent" judgement. It is automatic — no need of a court. It is universal — there are no exemptions. It is natural, not arbitrary. If you are careless with a tractor and get run over, that is consequent judgment. If you neglect your health and get TB, that is consequent judgement. Now if you reject Christ, you reject his commands, of course. And what does this bring on? Consequent judgement. For Christ is the true Revealer of God and of his will, then taking direction from any other source is to live against the grain of the universe—and that's fatal.

Old Letter Tells Of Appomattox After Surrender

An old letter found in a former "carriage house" has provided some "on the spot" details of events at Appomattox immediately after Lee's surrender.

Charles W. Campbell, of Huntington, West Va. sent a copy of the letter to Lynchburg City Manager Robert D. Morrison this week. The letter was found by Campbell's son while attending the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

The letter, discovered in a rented "carriage house" by the younger Campbell was sent on July 17, 1874 to John L. Winston of Lynchburg by Colonel Elihu B. Washburne, (first name not legible), then minister of France.

General Lee surrendered at April 9, 1865, and Washburne stated in the old letter that he had been in Appomattox several days after the surrender, and that he had seen the Lynchburg delegation present there.

The letter indicated that Winston had written to Washburn for his recollections of activities in Appomattox about the time of the surrender. The reason he wanted the information was not clear.

Prayer By Unknown Confederate

I asked God for strength, that I might achieve,
I was made weak, that I might learn humbly to obey . . .
I asked for health, that I might do greater things,
I was given infirmity, that I might do better things . . .

I asked for riches, that I might be happy,
I was given poverty, that I might be wise . . .
I asked for power that I might have praise of men,
I was given weakness, that I might feel the need of God
I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life,
I was given life, that I might enjoy all things . . .
I got nothing that I asked for—but everything I had hoped for;
Almost despite myself, my unspoken prayers were answered;
I am among all men, most richly blessed."
